Those who love you are not fooled by mistakes you have made or dark images you hold about yourself.
They remember your beauty when you feel ugly; your wholeness when you are broken; your innocence when you feel guilty; and your purpose when you are confused. ~ Alan Cohen

I have come to the frightening conclusion that I am the decisive element.

It is my personal approach that creates the climate.

It is my daily mood that makes the weather.

I possess tremendous power to make life miserable or joyous.

I can be a tool of torture or an instrument of inspiration; I can humiliate or humor; I can hurt or heal.

In all situations, it is my response that decides whether a crisis is escalated or de-escalated, and a person humanized or de-humanized.

*If we treat them as if they were what they should be, then we bring them into being how they should be. ~ Goethe

*Goethe (pronounced "Gu-ta") lived in Germany from 1749 – 1832. He was a lawyer early in his career but loved poetry and studying natural sciences more and became an artist, biologist, theoretical physicist, philosopher, and a polymath (aka Renaissance man). He wrote the play Faust. "His ideas are credited with 'sparking' the Romanticism (Romantic Era or Romantic Period) in Europe, which valued intuition and emotion over Enlightenment rationalism. He is considered a genius who influenced many including Ralph Waldo Emerson, Darwin and others for over a century. 'Goethe declared that all knowledge is related to humanity through its functional value alone and that knowledge presupposes a perspectival quality.'" (Wikipedia 2014)
